

Frontend Review Report — by Dharva

Hey guys,

Since I worked on most of the frontend, I went through everything again after all the new features and changes were added.

Here are the things I wanted to point out + what needs fixing.

1. Design Principles (quick recap)

The whole theme was supposed to feel like a cohesive retro terminal with following properties -

1. Visual

- a. Colour Scheme: Black backgrounds with green accent colours.
- b. Fonts: Monospace fonts for authentic terminal feel
- c. Borders: Dashed border style for all small containers, double bordered styles.

2. Elements

- a. Buttons: Buttons with [ TEXT ] style everywhere.
- b. Hover Effect: All navbar hovers should have a green accented highlight, and should scale on hovering.

3. Simple navigation:

even after signing in, users should be able to move around easily, and access information.

That was the original style when I made the core pages as everyone suggested.

2. Issues I noticed

a) Button hover effect

Right now buttons only change colour on hover.

They don't grow in size — but they should.

A small scale-up (like `scale(1.05)`) will make it feel more responsive and match the retro glowing look.

Moreover there is more delay in the colour change.

---

b) No way to open About page after signing in

Once we log in, the navbar removes [ ABOUT ].

So there's literally no access to the About page for logged-in users.

We should show the About button for everyone.

c) Typo in the Sign-up typewriter effect

It types “BAEGIN YOUR JOURNEY” sometimes. I reviewed the code but couldn't find the error. It may be due to the typewriting character wise. But the team needs to look at this issue

d) Google Sign-in button alignment

On the sign-in and sign-up pages,

“Or sign in using” is centered,

but the Google button looks shifted / not aligned properly.

We should wrap them in a clean flex column so it looks neat.

e) Public Story → Owner field shows email instead of username

In the public stories page, the “Owner” is shown using email.

Should be username (looks cleaner + matches rest of the UI).

f) Uniformity across all pages

The Edit Profile and Story Form page do not match the rest of the theme.

g) Bug in Edit Profile

The profile pic element in the pop up is inconsistent. There is a small glitch when not removing the element, and quitting without saving.
